Through five Turkish provinces Mark Sykes

In the spring of 1898 I renewed my acquaintance with the Hauran and commenced some investigations which I resolved to continue at the earliest opportunity. To enable me to do so, the authorities of my college at Cambridge kindly gave me leave of absence for the Lent term of 1899. England with the intention of spending three or four months in the Syrian desert, but, when I reached Damascus, I found that I was unable to obtain the necessary permit. The consequence was that I went over what to me was new ground, and visited Aleppo, Baghdad, Mosul and Van; coming home by way of Mount Ararat, Erivan, and Batoum. In the following pages I have given an account of my travels. The delay in publication is due to a variety of causes; among others to the fact that since the beginning of December last I have been with my militia battalion first at Aldershot and then in South Africa.
